ITEMS OF INTEREST.

MISSISSIPPI has 1738 Indians.

IN 1875 sixty tons of human hair were exported from China to Europe.

AN OSTRICH egg is considered equivalent to twenty-four eggs of the domestic hen.

IN JAVA an inferior must walk with his hands on his heels until his superior is out of sight.

CHAPMAN says that the Bushmen of South Africa thought his big wagon was the mother of his small one.

THE consumption of rails, for renewals alone, amounts to half a million of tons annually in the United States railroads.

MOUNDS have been found in the Pyrenees as distinct in their resemblance to animal forms as any American mounds.

THE national library of Mexico is reported to be in a deplorable state, thousands of books lying about in confusion.

A COMPLETE set of papier-mache furniture inlaid with mother-of-pearl was made a few years ago for the Queen of Spain.

WHALES have been recently seen on the Georgia coast, and have become so bold that they even enter inland streams.

THE pine needles of the Silesian forests have been converted into forest wool, which, besides being efficacious in cases of rheumatism, can be cured, felted and woven.

A FRENCH insane woman had a deep affection for pins and made them a part of her daily diet. After her death 1400 or 1500 hundred were removed from different parts of her body.

A MAN weighs about forty times as much as the new-born infant. The catepillar of the silk-worm, when fully developed, is seventy thousand times heavier than when it came from an egg.

IN SOME parts of Germany a curious custom exists. The peasantry who possess a bit of land, however small, never enter a church without having a nosegay in their hand. They thus show that they claim the consideration due those who possess some property in the parish.

THE megapod of the East Indies builds an artificial mound in which its eggs are deposited to be hatched. The mounds are sometimes fourteen feet high, with a circumference of 150 feet, and the decay of the vegetable matter of which they are composed produces an artificial warmth sufficient to hatch the eggs.

IN GERMANY, during the slippery season, temporary calks are used for horseshoes. Two sharp pointed studs an inch long are screwed into holes left in the shoe, and when the horse enters the stable they are taken out and a button screwed into their place, thereby preventing all damage to the horse and keeping the screw holes from filling.

How Chinese Coolies Act When They Come Ashore.

"If you have the patience to watch them, you will be amused, and perhaps astonished to see how like sheep these coolies are," Deputy Custom Inspector Brown said to a Call reporter, as the coolies from the Devonshire were being loaded and searched. The sheepish characteristic remarked by the official was the blind, stupid persistence of each coolie in doing exactly as the one before him was doing. At one time it was desirable to have a part of the Chinamen leave the sea-wall shed through another entrance than that through which the first landed were going. Accordingly the Custom-house officers attempted to divert part of the living stream pouring in tumultuous and noisy haste over the steamer's side on to the wharf to another part of the shed. It was useless. The aid of interpreters was invoked. The coolies were plainly told in their own language to go in a certain direction. Still useless. Those crowding on the wharf went in the same direction they saw the ones preceding them go, and nothing could prevent them. They were pushed, argued with, even struck by the exasperated whites, but it was as if a sheep-herder had endeavored to reason with his scurrying, witless, panic-stricken flock.

Another instance a reporter noticed. A Chinese Inspector of one of the Six Companies directed a group of his countrymen to a certain portion of the shed, and there wait for an express wagon. Between them and the point they were to go to was a stack of grain-filled sacks. A passage around the stack was blockaded for a moment by a wagon, so the first of the Chinamen clambered laboriously, with all his baggage on his back, over the grain sacks. Every Chinaman in his group followed, climbing and stumbling over the sacks with much trouble, although the passage-way was cleared for them by a policeman before the first one had crossed the sacks.—San Francisco Call.

To Paris by Rail.

To those who object to visit Europe on account of sea sickness, the proposition to build a railroad by which one can go from New York to Paris in fifteen days, by an all-rail route, except forty miles on a steamer, or two hour's ride, will be interesting. It hardly seems possible that such a thing can be done, until you read the scheme, which is as follows: "His line of route, starting from the commercial capital of the States, passes through Canada, New Georgia and Alaska to Cape Prince of Wales, whence the passengers are to be conveyed by steamer to East Cape, on the opposite Asiatic coast of Behring's Straits and distant about forty miles from the northwestern extremity of the American continent. From East Cape the iron road to be constructed will cross Russian territory in Northern Asia until it joins the Siberian railway system, already in direct connection, through Moscow and St. Petersburg, with all the European capitals. Mr. Gregory calculates that the distance from New York to Paris, the American paradise, can be traversed by this route in 372 hours, and at a cost of about thirty pounds to each passenger." The thing seems feasible and will do away with two weeks' sea sickness, but probably the danger from railroad accidents and corns from fifteen days' riding in the cars would more than overcome the objection to ocean travel. Still, the chances of discovering the North Pole, by rail, would be worth something. The cost of the proposed railroad would be more millions of dollars than could be carried on all the cars of the present railroads, but that is nothing. People who are thinking of going to Europe, though, should not wait for the new road, as it may not be completed for some months.—Peck's Sun.

A Tear for the Humorist.

Come weep with us, dear reader, over the grave of American humor. It is gone. It is busted and dead, like a cockroach flattened in the family Bible. Gather about us, weeping friends, while we drive the cold cruel screw into the coffin lid of busted American mirth. Pour into the open grave your scalding weep. America hasn't a humorist today that she can lay her jaws to. No one can regret this any more than we do, not because it hurts our trade any, for it does not. If we had a man on this paper who claimed to be a humorist, we would squat him into a heterogeneous mass and use him for a paper weight. But we have two or three journalistic friends who had fooled us into the delusion that they were inclined to be facetious, and without thinking about it much we have laughed a good deal over their printed remarks. It will go hard with such men to be laid aside that way and stood up behind the door like an old umbrella. They will be out of a job and hard up for awhile until they can get some wood to saw. Such men as Mark Twain and Josh Billings are left in their old age with only about $200,000 apiece, and Peck and Sweet and those men together with the Detroit Free Press man and Bob Burdette and Eugene Field, will probably have to tramp it over the country. All these men are making money hand over fist, and they are making it out of four or five million people who haven't the necessary mental acumen to drop to the never-dying truth that they are being bamboozled by a half dozen men who don't know a joke from a blue pill.—Bill Nye.

IF A man means what he says he will be deliberate in his speech, and state his purpose in plain, simple fashion. Intending suicide, he will not make motions at himself with a razor in the presence of his family five or six times a day. Mr. Micawber's style of speech is associated with his style of action. All difficult, vaporing, tragic, superlative words exhaust the speaker. His strength all goes out through his mouth, and he is thus left helpless to do anything. Lyman Beecher said that when he had not much of a sermon he always thumped the pulpit and "hollered."

THERE is nothing in this world so pure and undefiled as the love of a lawyer for his client. A recent case in this city proves this. The lawyers won a big case for their client and got him a pile of money, and, with a generosity never before heard of, they have insisted upon not keeping above half of what they recovered, for their own use, and have compelled their client to take the other half. Never again let it be said that it is better to lose all than to go to law and recover everything.—Fall River Advance.

A MAN who eloped with a Wisconsin wife left a note for the husband: "I have tooked your woman; but yu ar welcum to my last week's wages, which I didn't draw; and I hoap that squares things."

CARL PRETZEL'S WEEKLY for this week comes to us with very well executed portraits of Gen. John C. Smith and Charles T. Stratton, the candidates on the Republican state ticket.

THE organ of that fourth ward "forerunner of business" has another puff this morning for the institution at the doggery of Broadway and East Wood street, which the proprietor of the corner could well afford to pay for at advertising rates.

"WHETHER the great battle with Democratic free trade is to be waged in 1884 or later, no time is to be lost by the friends of American industry in organizing societies all over the land to meet with like zeal and vigilance the activity of their enemies," is the sound suggestion of the Cleveland Herald.

HON. JOHN R. THOMAS was renominated by the Republican congressional district at Cairo, last night, after one of the most hotly contested fights ever known in the political history of the state. The convention was in session two days, and the greater part of two nights, and was the scene of innumberless exciting episodes.

HON. N. W. BRANSON, of Petersburg, has been spending some days in Decatur as a special commissioner appointed by the U. S. court to pass upon the report of the late receiver of the Midland road. Mr. B. is prominently mentioned in connection with the circuit judgeship recently vacated by the death of Judge Barr, but as the circuit has several thousand Democratic majority, and as that party made a nomination a few days ago, it is not likely that he will get very close to the bench this time. The Democrats never favor a non partisan judiciary except in circuits where they are in the minority.

AND what will the Indiana Democrats do now? Senator Voorhees made a long speech in the Senate on Thursday, in which he took frong ground against the doctrine of free trade, and was equally positive in his opposition to the theory of a "tariff for revenue only." The position taken by the Senator was the same as that which he announced in his speech at Atlanta last fall, and which created such a profound sensation in Democratic circles at the time. The newspaper reports all agree in saying that the protection ideas advanced by the Indiana statesman would have done honor to "Pig Iron" Kelley. In view of the general attitude of the Democracy on this question, and of the Hoosier Bourbons in particular, this new departure of the Wabash statesman becomes especially interesting.

SOME time ago we noticed the fact that the good Andy Shuman, of the Chicago Journal, was spoken of as a candidate for U. S. senator, in the place of David Davis. We also chronicled the fact that he had sent us a letter denying the fact, and asserting that he would not take the office under any circumstances. Now we are informed from a trustworthy source that Shuman has reconsidered his determination, and will enter the field. His canvass is in the hands of Sullivan, his city editor. Sullivan is a good fellow, an old member of the house, and so thoroughly posted in state affairs that when he sought to make Shuman lieutenant governor, he bore him on his back through the state convention as Æneas bore his father through the flames of Troy. This somewhat complicates the fight. Hitherto we have taken a great deal of interest in the quarrel, but now that Shuman has shied his castor into the ring, the fight possesses a fascination for us. While our prayer is still "May the best man win," we shall encourage Shuman by shouting "Hi, yi!" whenever he hits his antagonists on the nob. Our best wishes and fondest hopes accompany Sullivan in his contest.—Peoria Journal.

AN idea of the amount of gambling in grain may be gathered from the facts that the sales of wheat in New York, within the first quarter of 1882, amounted to 202,500,000 bushels, while the total receipts in that market, in the same time, were only 8,921,666 bushels. Of corn the sales were 72,036,000 bushels, and but 2,598,884 bushels were received. The excess, in each case, was all "wind."

Why England Wants to Hold On.

The Suez canal is one of the most valuable pieces of property in the world. The net profits last year were $5,000,000. This was an increase of 20 per cent. over the profits of the previous year. Each ship that passes through the canal pays a tonnage fee of over 20 cents per ton.

PERSONS AND THINGS.

John Russell Young is wrestling with a series of Yokohama banquets.

Three dollars a seat will be the price charged to see Mrs. Langtry by her American manager.

Gov. Hoyt, of Pennsylvania, narrowly escaped drowning at Atlantic City the other day.

Gov. Cornell, of New York, attended the races at Monmouth Park Saturday, and lost his watch by a pickpocket.

At Cleveland, Tuesday, Egnitz Hale, of New York, a farmer worth $100,000, asked to be sent to the work house, to keep him from drink.

Mrs. Hayes, wife of ex-President Hayes, will preside at the approaching Chautauqua meetings of the Women's Home Missionary Society.

It is said that the rising generation of the Philadelphia Quaker families are the dressiest and gayest of the city's society. Times change, and people change.

Miss Louisa Howard, of Burlington, Vt., has given $5,000 to the University of Vermont, for the establishment of five scholarships, to be known by her name.

F. E. Bond, one of the editors of New York Turf, Field and Farm, is believed to have lost his life while fishing on the Flambeau river, in the north part of Wisconsin.

The Sultan of Turkey has expressed his esteem for Gen. Lew Wallace, the United States Minister at Constantinople, by presenting him with a beautiful Turkish girl. The Sultan has so many "beautiful Turkish girls" on hand that the alleged gift was about as economical a one as he could make.

President Andrews, of Marietta college, Ohio, in his report to the National Council of Education in Saratoga, strongly urged the harmonizing of three grades of education—primary, grammar and collegiate.

A romantic wedding has occurred in Beattysville, Pa., Henry Weaver, of Kansas, and Mrs. Isaac Slusher were the parties, both over 70. It was a case of love at first sight. The courtship lasted one week only.

The president has not determined upon his action in regard to the case of Sergeant Mason, but the general impression among those best qualified to judge is that he is not disposed to interfere with the sentence of the court martial.

Queen Victoria has announced her determination henceforth to have her birthday celebrations held on the actual anniversaries of her natal day May 24 of each year—and not, as has often been the case, on other days arbitrarily selected for the purpose.

General and Mrs. John A. Logan will spend the season at Santa Fe, N. M., after congress adjourns. Mrs. Tucker, their daughter, is spending the summer at Atlantic City near Philadelphia. Senator David Davis will spend his expected vacation at Saratoga.

Sir Anthony Musgrave, Governor of Jamaica, has been visiting his father-in-law, Mr. David Dudley Field, at the latter's country residence at Stockbridge, Mass. Mr. Field will sail for Europe on the 24th instant, on the Servia, to attend the meeting of the International Code Association, of which he was the first President.

The New York Herald's London correspondent telegraphs: "The belief that Skobeleff was poisoned by Germans has taken firm hold of the popular mind in Russia, and it will be difficult to eradicate it. Nothing, of course, justifies the report. The medical examination of the body made after death showed convincingly that Skobeleff's end was due to apoplexy."

"Reform."

The Burlington Hawkeye wants reform in the indiscriminate use of the title "professor."

It is, as that paper says, a pity that the scholars who have earned it well and wear it with dignity, should have their livery worn in the circus, the rat pit and the stable. According to the Hawkeye the title is thus conferred nowadays: "A man swims farther than any other man—professor. A man cuts corns and cures bunions for a living—professor; he waltzes three hours without resting—professor; plays the fiddle and imparts to others the secrets of the diabolical art—professor; walks a slack rope stretched across the street—professor; goes without eating twenty days—professor; rides four horses bareback—professor; sings in the choir—professor; teaches a brass band—professor; cures warts—professor; plays billiards for a living—professor; trains dogs—professor; performs some clever trick of sleight of hand—professor; does anything in the world except teach, and knows less of books and schools than he does of heaven—professor."

It might be added that in the smaller towns papers and correspondents mention their village barber half the time as "Prof." and the other half as "our tonsorial artist."

How a Woman Would Manage the World.

Mrs. Jane Gray Swisshelm.

If I was managing this world I'd do it on the plan of nothing for nothing and no trust; I'd give no man a dollar until he had earned it, and for those who would not work I'd have a plantation and workhouse where they'd be taught industry with a good whip, and pay them for their work when it was done. I'd make all the felons work and pay them; and those who could not be taught to be decent members of society I'd put in a bag with a big stone, take them out in the ocean and drop them overboard. I'd assume that "the meek should inherit the earth," and clear all thieves and murderers, all dangerous classes, out of the way.

WHAT IS THE WAR ABOUT?

Albany Evening Journal.

In the ordinary American mind the first questions which will arise after reading the news of the outbreak of the war in Egypt, will be, "What is it all about?" "What cause has England to declare war on Egypt?" The answer does not lie on the surface of events, or primarily in the happenings of the present year. The troubles date from the reign of the father of the present Khedive, Ismail Pasha, whose extravagant, reckless and corrupt administration of affairs brought Egypt to virtual bankruptcy ten years ago. In November, 1876, under the compulsion of circumstances, he signed a convention giving England and France practical control over Egyptian finances until such time as the creditors should have been, if not reimbursed, at least assured of the safety of their investments. Ismail being found by the English and French agents opposed to reform and secretly working to defeat their attempts to improve their finances, was deposed in June, 1879, and was succeeded by his son, Tewfik Pasha, the present Khedive. Following his accession three political parties, which figure in the present crisis, have grown up. The first party is represented by the Khedive, who has been the stool pigeon of England and France. Since his elevation these two powers have controlled the finances, and in return have agreed in effect to maintain Tewfik, who is unpopular with the people, in his seat. The second is the Turkish party, which regards the Sultan as commander of the faithful, and aims to tighten the bands which unite Egypt to Turkey, making the former politically dependent on the latter. The third is the National party, headed by Arabi Bey, and supported by the mass of the native population.

The platform of the National party is Egyptian home rule, and Arabi Bey as its leader, represents the attempt of the people to throw off the Anglo-France control in the interest of foreign creditors. The ministerial crisis in February last, following close on the joint note of England and France to the Khedive to the effect that they intended to maintain his authority as the only adequate guarantee of order, led to the appointment of Arabi Bey as minister of war. His administration was marked at once by a change of policy. He opposed the English and French controllers-general, withdrew the finances from them, commenced removing foreign officeholders on a large scale to make room for native Egyptians, and actively pushed the contest for national supremacy. The issue was precipitated in May, when the Khedive commuted the death sentence pronounced on fifty officers of the army who had conspired against Arabi. A move on the part of the Nationalists at this time to depose the Khedive, was thwarted by the sudden appearance of the English and French fleets in the harbor of Alexandria to sustain the Khedive. The fleet, however, remained inactive, and the failure of the allied forces to make any decided move emboldened the Nationalists, strengthened the power of Arabi, and indirectly caused the massacre of resident Europeans in Alexandria on June 11. The powers then resorted to Turkish intervention to suppress the National revolt. Arabi Bey refused to obey the summons of the Sultan to go to Constantinople. France, outwitted and handled by Germany, suddenly broke faith with England and withdrew from the joint intervention, leaving to England alone the task of bolstering up the tottering throne of Khedive Tewfik. The other events are of too recent occurrence to require any reference.

Summed up, England is fighting to retain her supervision of Egyptian finances and the controlling voice in the government of the country, which she now possesses. On the other side, Arabi Bey and his followers are striving to throw off the domination of foreign nations, and, deposing their agent, the Khedive, to establish an Egyptian nation. Between the two, inevitable defeat now seems to be the lot of the latter. But, with the overthrow of Arabi Bey, England's difficulties will just begin. The readjustment of her relations to the conquered people will be a delicate diplomatic problem in which all Europe will have a say.

MR. BRET HARTE, American Consul at Glasgow, writes of a recent visit to the Island of Iona, where he saw the graves of nineteen sailors, drowned by the wreck of the American ship Guy Mannering, December, 1865. "The spot," says Mr. Harte, "is marked by two rows of low granite pediments at the head and feet of the dead, supporting and connected by an iron chain, which incloses the whole space. This was done by the order and at the expense of the lord of the manor, the present Duke of Argyll. The locality is picturesque and historical. The graves of the American seamen lie side by side with the tombs and sculptured effigies of ancient Scottish Kings. A record of the names, ages and burial of these men is kept by the Registrar of the district, but there is no memorial upon the stone inclosure. The fact of their burial there, and the generosity of the distinguished nobleman, is learned only from the lips of hired guides." The State Department at Washington has directed that the Duke be thanked for his generosity.

An Incentive to Smart Base Running.

Harrisburg Patriot.

A novel game of base ball was played at Conshohocken by rival clubs of Connaughttown. A keg of beer was placed on third base, and a rule prescribed that no player could have a drink until he reached that station. The effect was singular. Every player reached third base, and so frequently that two kegs were emptied before the game was half over.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

ALEXANDRIA.

HOW IT WAS BURNED AND SACKED.

Notes and News from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Pennsylvania members are divided in opinion regarding a compromise, but the majority think it won't be had. Simon Cameron expresses himself against further action, and says the Independents evidently only want to ruin the party. Don Cameron expresses little hope of a compromise. The Pennsylvania Democrats are proposing to nominate L. C. Cassiday as Senator to succeed Don Cameron in case they capture the Legislature, as they hope to do at the next election. It is probable, however, that Sam. Randall would claim the place, and force Cassiday out.

It is reported upon pretty good authority that the Grand Jury will reject the testimony against Senator Kellogg as insufficient to warrant an indictment, and so report to-day or to-morrow.

The discovery that the Bank Charter bill does not definitely exempt the proposed new 3 per cent. bonds from municipal taxation, causes some doubt about the propositions for exchange of the 3½'s under Secretary Folger's call of yesterday. Mr. Folger, however, holds that the Revised Statutes are sufficiently explicit to warrant the assertion that the new bonds are non-taxable.

Congressman Cannon of Illinois is being congratulated on his renomination, as his re-election is considered certain.

It is not improbable that the Government may consider itself called upon to put a stop to "Pat" Crowe's movement for a dynamite convention. Crowe is the Peoria, Ill., chap who was alleged to have been concerned in manufacturing an infernal machine to blow up English ocean steamers. His convention is announced to meet in Chicago next month. It is generally considered here that the interference of the Government will be entirely proper and commendable.

A disgraceful discussion occurred in the House this afternoon, over the Garfield illness expenses, as provided by the Senate amendment to the Deficiency bill. Springer, Blackburn, McMillan, and other Democrats, attacked the character of the medical attendance given Garfield, and the talk about the surgical operations in all their detail was both disgusting and painful. The Republicans asked, in the name of decency and of a regard for the memory of the dead, and for the feelings of the living family, that the debate be closed, but the Democrats wouldn't have it, and the debate is still going on.

The House caucus committee last night set on foot inquiries to see how soon a quorum could be had to take up the election cases. The Sergeant-at-Arms says he can get a quorum early next week. It is quite probable the Republicans will determine to take up the election cases next week.

The grand jury has adjourned without finding an indictment against Senator Kellogg, of Louisiana, and his political enemies are cast down.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14. Architects are at work to-day on plans for an addition to the White House, as provided by the senate amendment to the legislative bill. The amendment appropriates $300,000 for the erection of a building precisely like the White House, and adjoining it. The new one is to be used as a residence, and the old one as an office. Work will probably begin immediately after adjournment, if the amendment passes the house, and will be completed within a year.

The house voted on adopting the senate plan for paying Garfield's funeral bills. The motion was lost—yeas, 77; nays, 83.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 14.—Collinsville, a small town on the Vandalia road, about nine miles from East St. Louis, was the scene of a tragedy last evening. As John Dooley (colored) was riding through the streets on a mule, he was shot and wounded by Nelson Cooper (also colored). Dooley fell to the ground, when Cooper rushed up, placed his gun against the former's head and again fired. Dooley died almost immediately. Cooper then coolly gave himself up to the city marshal. The cause of the murder was that Cooper was convinced that his wife had lavished her affections on Dooley.

DUBLIN, July 14.—A special gazettee issued this morning, proclaims the counties of Cavan, Leitrim, Longford, Westmeath, Sligo, Roscommon, Mayo, Tipperary, Kilkenny, Waterford, Limerick, Cork, Clare, Kerry, Louth and Dublin, and the cities of Limerick, Cork, Waterford, Kilkenny, Dublin, Londonderry, Galway and Droghe la, and two baronies in Monoghan and two in Armagh, under the Repression act.

LONDON, July 14.—A dispatch from Alexandria dated 4 p. m. says the town is totally ruined. The houses from the great square to the custom house have been plundered. In the square itself and the other wealthy European quarters there is hardly a building not ruined or still burning. The court house of the international tribunal has so far escaped. The Anglo-Egyptian bank is also preserved. The streets are all strown with empty clock and jewel cases and similar debris, but very few dead bodies have been found. Two-thirds of the troops deserted during the bombardment.

After the Khedive's palace had been surrounded a party of soldiers entered his apartment and declared they had orders to kill him and burn his palace. After long parleying their loyalty was bought by promise of money. They then escorted the Khedive to the British at Ras El Tin. His guard was not allowed to enter the palace there with him. All the ministers, except Arabi Pasha, presented themselves at Ras El Tin palace.

At 5 o'clock this evening a detachment of marines marched through the town. Some plunderers caught in flagrante delicto were summarily shot.

LONDON, July 14.—A dispatch from Alexandria, dated 9:15 this evening, says a strong body of men from the fleet, joined by detachments from neutral ships, have gone ashore to stop looting and incendiarism.

ALEXANDRIA, July 15, 7 p. m.—All Arabs are carrying white handerchiefs on sticks and showing great anxiety to be thought friendly. I found Gen. Stone with the Khedive. The general confirmed the statement that Arabi Pasha had ordered the murder of the Khedive, and added that Arabi had ordered the sacking of the town before quitting it. Two Arab soldiers have been seized with plunder, and will be tried for pillaging. Several Arabs have also been arrested with a large quantity of loot in their possession.

The Americans landed sixty marines, under command of Captain Cochrane. There are still some Egyptian police on duty helping to maintain order.

The entrauce to Ras el Tin Palace is entirely destroyed. The court yard and barracks are full of limbs and accoutrements. The base of the lighthouse is very badly damaged. A European municipal official informs me that Arabi Pasha ordered the firing of the town. Soldiers were the first to begin to plunder. Desertion from Arabi's army is rife.

10:35 p. m.—Sailors now occupy all the gates. They have been ordered to disarm all soldiers and shoot loiterers. The populace is being encouraged to return to their homes.

The Penelope has sailed for Ismalia.

The fire continues with unabated fury.

LONDON, July 14.—A correspondent of the Times says: I went ashore to-day. All evidences prove the truth of the report that the Egyptian gunners were directed by French and Italian artillerists.

EX-SENATOR CONKLING was serenaded by his old friends at Utica, the other evening, and in the course of some kind remarks to his old neighbors, gave utterance to the following words of wisdom:

We are in a period of peace and great prosperity. But let us never forget that prosperity often tests and tries the wisdom of nations and of men more even than adversity. The tendency is to spending largely. The tendency in Government is to profuse, perhaps lavish appropriations of public money. In the affairs of Government and in the affairs of business, unless I greatly mistake the lesson, the need and admonition of the hour is frugality, foresight and care. We have more need of brakes than of steam, in a good many ways just now.

THE Republicans of what is now the fifteenth congressional district of this state have re-nominated the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, of Danville, for congress, without opposition. Mr. Cannon is now serving his fifth term in congress, and is sure of a sixth term. No constituency in this state has a more faithful or painstaking representative in congress than that which Mr. Cannon represents. He is a practical statesman, and the fact that the people of his district adhere to him so steadfastly shows that they appreciate his faithful services in their behalf. He understands and industriously watches their interests, and they know it.

Grape Juice for Churches.

The art of fermenting the Oporto Grape into wine in this country has been brought to a greater degree of perfection by Mr. Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, than by any other person; and his wine is very popular as a ladies' wine, as well as for the communion table and for invalids. He also preserves the juice fresh as it runs from the press by extracting the ferment and without the use of spirits. For sale by Dr. A. J. Stoner. S-d2w

THE prohibition delegates to the congressional convention and the Lincoln base ballists will visit Decatur on Tuesday next.

BISHOP WARREN will preach at the 1st M. E. Church on Sunday, July 23d, and will lecture in the same church on Monday evening, the 24th.

TO-DAY the REPUBLICAN received numerous calls from Decatur base ballists to read the Pana Palladium on the contest of Monday last.

THAT lost monie cloth buggy robe advertised in these columns last evening found its way to this office this morning, and the owner gave the boy a dollar for his trouble.

TUESDAY night St. Patrick's Catholic church at Danville caught fire and was totally consumed. Loss, about $20,000; insurance, $12,000. Cause of fire unknown.

THE captain of the Springfield nine knocked a ball clean over the fence in the first inning yesterday. It was a clipper, and he scored the only home that was made.

GO to Peter Ullrich's and get a bar of that Magnetic Soap; no washboard or boiling of cloth necessary; washing done in one-half the time, and guaranteed not to injure the finest fabric. 13-dlf

THE Reds will practice batting balls henceforward. They are only weak in this point. Thus far they have won six games and lost but two, being ten runs ahead for the season.

SEE new advertisement of J. W. Baker in to-day's paper. J. W. is one of our liveliest boot and shoe dealers, and what he says in his announcements to the public may be relied on, too.

ABOUT all of Decatur's bank directors held a confab yesterday in room 78 at the New Deming, with Mr. E. W. Nedl, of Boston, who was here to exhibit his combination safe lock. A number of experts were also present to test the new lock.

Two Cisco men had a fight a few days ago, and it is said that after the battle nothing could be found but a stray horse, some shreds of a shirt and coat, a few drops of blood and about a bushel of second-hand oaths.

ONE day this week, while blasting a large rock 100 feet under ground, in the new Mt. Pulaski coal shaft, Wm. Beard, the superintendent, was dangerously injured. A large piece struck him, making a frightful gash and scalp wound.

WELL, there is just one way to reduce the score and get a little consolation out of the base ball game yesterday. It was three goose-eggs for the Springfield boys and six for the Reds. The Reds have lost two games and won six since they commenced playing.

THE heading of the Pana blast in the Palladium reads as follows: "Experience and privations of a band of Hottentots from Decatur in the jungles of Egypt, and their miraculous escape and return to the land of their fathers. Our private opinion of the Hoodlums and their cranky umpire publicly expressed."

STATE SECRETARY HOUSUM has received notice from Bradford, Pa., that commencing on September 22d, a grand firemen's tournament will take place. The sweepstakes hose prize is $500, to be run under rules that are in vogue in Illinois. The Reeves have been invited to participate in the contest.

CAPTAIN ADAIR, of Springfield, has been selected to muster in the members of "Denham Post," Grand Army of the Republic, soon to be organized in Decatur. Major Steele has been in correspondence with the Adjutant-General with reference to the matter, and has finally succeeded in securing a mustering officer, who will soon announce when he can come to Decatur.

Not a Close Game.

The Decatur Reds suffered their second defeat yesterday at the park at the hands of the Watch Factory Nine, of Springfield. It was a closely contested game all through, but was most interesting on our side of the house in the first six innings, when the score stood 4 to 6 in favor of the visitors. From this inning out the game was very lopsided, the watch makers scoring 11 runs and the Reds getting three large goose eggs that gave the visitors the victory by a score of 17 to 4. Below is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9.
Springfield—	3	0	0	2	1	0	2	3	6—17.
Decatur —	1	0	1	0	0	2	0	0	0— 4.

The members of the Springfield club are all large in size, excellent batters, good runners, but only fair catchers, with the exception of their pitcher and catcher behind the bat. They are well up in the rules of the National game and quick to note errors. It is a strong team and no mistake. The Reds played very well, though several very bad errors were made, mostly in muffing and throwing balls. Our boys were not good in batting, and in this they are weak when a swift pitcher is in front of them. Ed. Martin and Lee Hall were on first and third bases and in catching and throwing they played so well that they received flattering ovations from the crowd. Charley Shilling, the King of the left field, nipped two difficult flies that "brought down the house." Bickes was oh deck and kept up his end of the string in fine shape, and Scott pitched with his accustomed skill. The umpire chosen was Mr. Brown, of Springfield, whose decisions were in the main correct. Twice he showed partiality in favor of the visitors, when it seemed he was plainly wrong, but he doubtless endeavored to be fair. The game passed off pleasantly. There was an immense crowd of spectators present, including scores of ladies, representing fairly the fashionable element of the city.

A Damaging Fall.

Mr. Bailey, one of the salesmen at Linn & Scruggs' store, experienced a fall in one of the show-windows, at 7 o'clock this morning, and had a miraculous escape from serious injuries. He was on a step-ladder, in the left of the curved corner entrance to the store, and was in the act of tacking a piece of trimming to the ceiling when the ladder needed slightly, causing Mr. Bailey to lose his footing. He saw that he was about to fall head first through the thick French plate glass window, and he sought to prevent damage and save himself by swinging inward; but in doing so, his feet and the top of ladder struck the glass a little below the centre, and Bailey went part way through it, injuring his right side and head slightly. The large glass was badly shattered, doing damage amounting to about $100. The glass was fully insured.

The Benefit Fair.

This morning a reporter was shown a magnificent silver tea set of six pieces at O. E. Curtis & Co.'s jewelry store, which is to be voted away at the fair and festival to be given at the tabernacle on the evenings of July 25, 26 and 27, for the benefit of the "Alerts," the new hook and ladder company organized recently in the fifth ward. The set is worth $75, and is certainly the finest prize that has been put up to be voted away at a fair. The members of the "Alerts" will also have other costly prizes to be disposed of in like manner during the festival. A hook and ladder company is needed in the vicinity of the Union depot, and our property owners should give the boys substantial encouragement that they may use the money raised in securing a suitable outfit. The "Alerts" will have their headquarters at the Eldorado hose house.

THE Pana Palladium for that week lies at hand. It contains nearly three columns of the meanest and most foul expressions that we ever read upon any one subject. The writer, whoever he is, shows by that article that he has no equal on earth as a dirt-slinger. Pana is full of just such characters, and it is no wonder that the papers of that town are filled from week to week with such filthy articles. The whole article about the Reds is a personal attack upon Mr. Carter, the club and all who went to Pana with the party. It goes on to answer the charges made by the Decatur papers sentence by sentence, and pronounces them all a tissue of lies. Not a redeeming drop to show up by.

Not Tonsorial Enough.

Last evening a barber in Chicago was chased by Mr. David J. Kelly, the cafe dealer, full about a mile and a half near Macon while the boat was steaming toward the Keller farm. The engine was in charge of Mr. Kelly and several others. It all happened days and the expenditure of considerable money kept the engine out of the ravine. A separator was attached to the engine, and it could not be the fault of the engine.

Brant and Out of Business.

The well-known grain commission house of this city, W. L. Dickson & Co., whose general office is in open block, has made arrangements to establish five or six branch offices about Decatur. The home office at Lake City, and another at Kearney. They have sold out all their back in buying and shipping grain on an extensive scale. Mr. Dunnell and Mr. Platt are energetic dealers and deserve the success in business which has attended their efforts.

THE Wilkinson Brothers, who have engaged in the manufacture of tile at Bethany, are having good luck, and will do a paying business. The Peoria Journal thus refers to the enterprise: "Prof. J. N. Wilkinson, formerly of this city, latterly of Decatur, has engaged in the manufacture of tile with his brother. The firm name will be J. N. and W. A. Wilkinson, and their works will be situated at Bethany, a small town midway between Decatur and Sullivan."

MR. SHRADER, traffic manager of the Illinois Midland, states that this line will make no effort to secure through business out of Peoria. They go into Peoria only to accommodate their local traffic. Their local business will require all the equipments at their command without carrying a pound of through freight, and from this source on all lines is the chief revenue derived.

MR. JAMES CANTRALL, whose farm is in Whitmore township, Friday brought us in the tallest samples of oats we ever gazed upon. There are twelve stalks in the stool, and the largest head in the bunch is 18½ inches. According to our Snooks, Cantrall's White Russian oats takes the whole bakery for length.

The Thief Still at Large.

Mr. James C. Lake, who has been absent for several weeks in hot pursuit of the thief who stole his $500 horse and colt from his farm near Lovington, is again in the city, looking tanned from long exposure to the sun. Several times Mr. Lake was very near his victim, but the fellow was going nowhere in particular, made few stops and few inquiries as he went along, and therefore it was extremely difficult to run him down. Mr. Lake says it is easy enough for a person to capture a thief who is bound for some particular point, but when it comes to running down a scoundrel who is traveling about aimlessly, the chances for his apprehension are considerably lessened. However, Mr. Lake is just as keen and as determined to hunt down the fellow as he was the day after the robbery. The name of the thief is known and when he is caught Mr. Lake promises to bring him to Decatur and march him through the streets in a parade to the tune of the "Rogues' March," played by Goodman's band. That will be a sensational day and will draw out all the natives. The thief is supposed to be at some point in Iowa, beyond Des Moines.

Marriage Celebration.

The celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. Willis Johnson and Miss D. A. Sinclair, who were united in wedlock on July 11, 1842, at the residence of Mr. John Hanks, three miles northwest of Decatur, by the Hon. Kirby Benedict, took place yesterday and last night at the Johnson home place 2½ miles northwest of the city. The occasion was one of great enjoyment to all present, and everyone in attendance shared the proverbial hospitality of the host and hostess. Uncle Johnny Hanks, who is now in the 82d year of his age, was present. The couple received hearty congratulations from scores of old friends, most of whom have resided here for nearly a half century. The gifts included the following articles:

Glass fruit dish, Mrs. Jos. Trontman; walking cane, D. H. Redman; basket of flowers, Mrs. Weldell; pair cushion and mats, Mrs. H. Crout; towels and silk handkerchiefs, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sawyer; pair linen towels, Mrs. S. S. Mee;

Store Clothes and Civilization.

As showing how easy it is for a savage to cast aside "the trammels of artificiality to rush into the glowing realities of savage life," the following is told of Rantzani, a famed Basuto chief. Rantzani was a nephew of Mashesh, of South African renown. He had taken, thanks to a missionary education, all the outer manners of a dandy. He wore a tweed coat, a white shirt, suspenders, a watch, chain, seals, gloves, and even a paper collar. He could talk of books, and was a subscriber to the Natal paper. Friends of Rantzani were quite positive that the charms of education had won Rantzani from the wild habits of his clan, for the young Basuto loved to loll in an American rocking chair, and certainly such an educated young fellow never would any more, so it was supposed, find pleasure in cattle stealing and house-burning. The question of battle with the Boers was not agitating the savage mind, and Mashesh, it was thought, was only holding back the dogs of war until Rantzani's decision was heard. A meeting was called, at which Rantzani desired to be heard. He is described as having been dressed in well-fitting clothes, with patent leather boots, a straw colored necktie around a stiff Byron collar. There is some doubt as whether this latter adjunct of civilization was linen or paper. As an excuse for human error, we are to suppose it was paper. Rantzani began to speak in a slow, manimate way. He was talking of the advantages of peace, and all it would do for his people. "Lions only have to fight and are miserable, behold the sheep, how happy they are." Then his shirt collar hurt him and he made an effort to open it. "Our children go to the field and carry books and improve their little minds, instead of wasting their time in wild bird catching." Then his shirt stud jammed into his neck. "People—wild people—the Kafirs call this bondage—nevertheless, the happy quietude of this life, which leads to contentment, has pleased me, but—but—" here the sharp, unyielding, knifeblade like edge of his collar sawed into his swelling neck. Then he yelled "I am tired of this imposture!" These clothes confine my limbs once unfettered by any of the trammels of this civilized world I am trying to praise. Then, with a mighty effort, he tore the collar from his throat and trampled on it. Increasing in violent gestures he flung off his coat, his suspenders, cast aside his trousers, and in an instant was stark naked. Before him lay in one disordered heap his clothes. He danced on them. He rushed to a fire, seized a brand, and with his own hand set fire to the schoolhouse, and as it blazed, grasping a rifle, he at once became the fighting chief of the Basutos. Some time afterward, at the battle of Tum, almost alone, "he defended with desperate courage a mountain path. Since his eclipse he has become more and more savage, and, although he is fairly well off, and still maintains a carriage and horses, yet his pleasures are pagan, and he is a thief and a liar." How much of this falling off from grace may be due to that paper collar future philosophers alone can determine. Finely invented descriptions of the natural instincts of his race really pale before this actual narration of facts.—New York Times.

Seek No Further

It is said an old philosopher sought an honest man with a lighted lantern, and humanity has since been seeking an honest medicine by the light of knowledge. It has at length found it in Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which cures all diseases of the blood, removes pimples, and acts promptly upon the liver and kidney organs. Only 50 cents a bottle, to be had at Dr. A. J. Stoner's.

CHEAP GOODS are the result of judicious purchases from first hands, and the largest sales with the least expense. That we have attained this end is a pretty well established fact. And though we call attention in our advertisements to special articles, there are no departments and no articles in departments, from the smallest to the largest, that will not be in the same category. We hold that merchants are too much bound to adhere to the truth in their advertisements as farmers or mechanics in their business transactions, and that misrepresentations are resorted to where there is no merit, and for the purpose of deceiving the plain unsuspecting class, who can least afford the deception, which robs them of their dues. Goods constantly change in styles and prices, so that the most enlightened merchants find it difficult to determine values, and the seeming artlessness which invests the ordinary buyer, or the "intelligent public" with a knowledge of merchandise, that wise merchants often do not possess, may be very flattering indeed, but this observation is only made to lull persons into security in order to practice a still greater deception. There is no law to punish dealers for representing their purchases as coming direct from importers and manufacturers, when the facts are against them. Nor for giving special reasons for marking down goods, after six weeks maturing labor, TWO HUNDRED PER CENT BELOW COST. But the dealer who indulges in such misrepresentations on paper will do so over the counter, consequently to show courtesy where it does not belong, or to AFFECT a regard for the integrity of all competitors might seem very magnanimous were it not for these palpable evidences to the contrary. We invite the most critical investigation to what we say and do in DRY GOODS and CARPETS, also to every other article of merchandise composing our stock.

A MAN'S wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too! Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and give strength and rest. Try them. Sold by Hubbard & Swearingen. 14

THE WORKSHOP.

THE first type setting machine was invented in Connecticut, in 1820, by Dr. William Church.

BURNING kerosene oil can be extinguished by throwing milk upon it. A person's first impulse is to throw water, but the oil rises and the only result is to make the first spread.

A NOVELTY in carriage springs consists of an elliptic spring connected to the vehicle body at its upper side, and on its lower side to a half spring extending across the body by jointed coupling-studs.

TO MAKE cisterns and tanks water tight paint thickly on the inside with a mixture of eight parts of melted glue and four of linseed oil, boiled with litharge. In forty-eight hours it will be so hard that the tank can be filled with water.

TO FIX pencil marks so they will not rub, take well skimmed milk and dilute with an equal bulk of water. Wash the pencil marks (whether writing or drawing) with this liquid, using a soft camel-hair brush, and avoid all rubbing. Place upon a flat board to dry.

A ROAD locomotive for war purposes was lately tried before Count Moltke. It weighed 28 tons, and drew easily forty tons' weight of guns mounted on their carriages fully equipped. Its maximum traction power is 150 tons and its cost of maintenance is about thirty cents an hour.

LUBRICATION.—For general purposes, sperm answers best, next, winter strained lard oil. For high speed and heavy pressures, add finest air floated plumbago (graphite, black lead). For cocking heated journals use flour of sulphur and olive oil. For curing badly scored journals use lead filings.

A NEW filter consists of a bottomless jug placed in an open vessel containing filtering material. Around the sides of the jug near the bottom is a series of perforations through which the water precipitates after passing through the filtering material. A pipe inserted into the neck of the jug serves to draw off the filtered liquid.

SILK workers from Europe are astonished to find here no schools for instruction in the mechanical arts and industries. In every considerable Europe manufacturing town there are polytechnic schools, which with twenty per cent less population than Paterson, has two such schools, where all the useful arts are taught, even to basket making.

A COLUMN of water 2.99.3 feet (or 27.71 inches) high, at 62 degrees Fahrenheit, will exert a pressure of one pound per square inch. A column of water 2.310 feet high, at 62 degrees Fahrenheit will exert a pressure of one atmosphere (14.7 pounds per square inch). 1728 cubic inches, 2200.15 cylindrical inches, 300.23 spherical inches, or 6600.15 conical inches make one cubic foot.

THE largest turn table in the world is said to be that of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Road, at Chicago, which is seventy feet in length. In England most of the roads have short turn tables, and cut the tender loose from the engine when turning it. In this country the average length of the turn tables is fifty feet, but the putting in service of heavy engines necessitates the roads using them putting in sixty foot turn tables.

THE compound strength of wire and manila rope was severely tested in the attempt of the Parsons monitor to tow the disabled steamer Edam, as reported on the 18th ult. The tow line, as described by Capt. Duncombe, was a composite affair, the two ends being of manila and the central portion of wire, the whole attached to the steamer by a piping. In repeated efforts the manila yielded every time, and at last went to pieces, so that the Edam was abandoned to her fate. The wire portions remained intact.

IT HAS been proven by direct comparison that objects which are white by sunlight appear yellowish under the electric light, and red when seen by gaslight. "The illusion," says Dr. Werner Siemens, "arises from our being accustomed to see the earth redly illuminated after sunset, and on this basis forming a different scale of colors for ourselves. Daylight would accordingly by night appear still bluer than the electric light. This false idea would disappear if electric illumination became general."

SAYS the Philadelphia Chronicle: Michigan produces more salt than any other State, but it is forest fires and not salt that upsets the inhabitants in the greatest degree.

Millions Given Away

A Novel and Perfect Cure for Scrofula Salt Rheum, Cancer Etc

A discovery has recently been made which adds luster to the Nineteenth Century. It consists simply in an extract from the Red Clover Blossom, as extracted by J. M. Loose & Co., Monroe, Mich., who have gone into the business largely in order to supply the increasing demand. For sale by Dr. A. J. STONER.

A slight testimonial

TOLEDO, OHIO, Jan 17, 1882.
J. M. Loose & Co., Monroe, Mich.
Gentlemen—My wife has for some time been afflicted with scrofulous disease, and found no relief until she gave your Extract of Red Clover a trial. I am happy to say she has experienced great relief. This is but a slight testimonial of my appreciation of your efforts in behalf of humanity, which you are welcome to use for their benefit. I am very respectfully, H. ADAMS.
